

eLearning

FIDM's eLearning Program ensures that students' educational experience can take place anywhere in the world. The program has received industry and press recognition for its selection of best-of-breed learning software, live 24-hour support, and focus on faculty development through workshops and instructional design assistance.

FIDM eLearning Students are granted the same quality education as students on campus and they have immediate access to all of our valuable resources, including the Library, Career Advisors, and enthusiastic, knowledgeable Instructors.

eLearning classes are led by FIDM Instructors who teach and guide students through their learning experiences by providing a course outline, assignments, opportunities to participate in chat sessions, and more. Lectures are more than just textbook notes, they are multimedia experiences designed to help drive the point home. FIDM makes it easy for students to communicate with their classmates and instructors.

eLearning Program participants become part of the FIDM community. Our selection of eLearning courses grows each quarter. Check with an Admissions Advisor or visit www.fidm.edu/elearning to find out if you qualify as a candidate for the program.

Students can access FIDM's network from anywhere!

FIDM eLearning students keep up with assignments on their own time.
